DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 14 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cox (US 5,890,097) in view of Velazquez et al. (US 6,473,013).

Regarding claim 14, Cox teaches a processor for controlling a sampling rate of an analog-to-digital converter to periodically increase the sampling rate enough to capture high-speed transients (column 3, lines 12-14 and column 6, lines 17-23).

Regarding claim 15, Cox teaches controlling an analog-to-digital converter in accordance with user input from a user input device (column 5, lines 11-12).

Cox teaches a single analog-to-digital converter with a variable sampling rate. Cox does not teach an array of analog-to-digital converters.

Velazquez et al. teaches an array of analog to digital converters that sample with a variable sampling rate (column 3, lines 13-17).

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of the invention to combine the teachings of Cox with the teachings of Velazquez et al. to use an array of analog to digital converters. The motivation for making this combination would be to sample different signals using different converters.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-13 and 16-32 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Please see previous office action and applicant's response for reasons for allowance.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 14 and 15 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
